ADAM'S DUNDAS SOUTH.

(By Our Special Reporter.)

This block immediately adjoins the southern boundary of the Melbourne Proprietary block, and is believed to carry the same line of lode.

MELBOURNE PROPRIETARY.

This property is to the south of and adjoins the Melbourne Proprietary block, and is believed to carry the same line of lode.

It has been done on this block, but it is to be floated into a separate company, Mr. J. Foley, of Launceston, is the legal manager of the company and Mr. Biddell, at one time of Sandhurst, the mining manager.

The largest claim on the field is the Mount Dundas Proprietary Company's, but lately known as Kominsky's. It has attracted a large amount of attention, owing to the number of lodes that have been traced through the three sections.

At about 1724, which ultimately were purchased by some Melbourne capitalists and a company was registered as The Dundas and Adelaide Proprietary Association.

At the meeting of the Wellington council yesterday, a petition, signed by a number of ratepayers, addressed to the Minister of Defence, with reference to the Gellibrand Battery.
